

Parliamentary p

New Zealand Parliament, n.d.[b]

Home » MPs and Electorates » Parliamentary parties

There are 7 parliamentary parties in the 51st Parliament. These are the Act Party, Green Party, Labour Party, Māori Party, National Party, New Zealand First, and United Future.

National Party

The New Zealand National Party (National Party) is the largest partner in the National-led Government. It has 59 members of Parliament. National Party

Labour Party

The New Zealand Labour Party (Labour Party) has 32 members of Parliament. The party is in opposition. Labour Party

Green Party of Aotearoa New Zealand

Green Party

The Green Party of Aotearoa / New Zealand (Green Party) is an opposition party. The Green Party has 14 members of Parliament all elected from the party list. Green Party

New Zealand First

New Zealand First Party

The New Zealand First Party has 12 members of Parliament, 11 elected from the party list and one general electorate seat. New Zealand First Party

Māori Party

The Māori Party has two members of Parliament. It has a relationship accord and confidence and supply arrangement with the National-led Government. Māori Party

United Future Party

United Future New Zealand (United Future) has one member of Parliament. It has a confidence and supply arrangement with the National-led Government. United Future Party

ACT Party

The ACT Party has one member of Parliament.

It has a confidence and supply agreement with the National-led Government. ACT Party