

Parliament TV screens on Freeview and SKY

New Zealand Parliament, 2007b

Home » Visit and Learn » How Parliament works » Office of the Speaker » Press Releases (pre 2015)

Published date: 8 Oct 2007

Get notifications

Parliament TV

Monday 8 October 2007

From tomorrow, television viewers will be able to view live, the full, unedited proceedings of Parliament on Freeview 22 and SKY Channel 94.

Parliament TV will broadcast all debates from the Chamber in full from 9 October 2007 via both television companies. Parliament's Speaker Hon Margaret Wilson says access for members of the public to the full proceedings of Parliament is greatly improved thanks to Freeview and SKY.

Debates from the Chamber are a new Freeview service.

SKY has previously broadcast Parliament's Question Time. Now its viewers will be able to tune in to the full proceedings of Parliament.

The proceedings of Parliament can also be viewed at www.parliament.nz (<http://www.parliament.nz/>) and heard on Radio New Zealand's AM network and at www.radionz.co.nz/parliament (<http://www.radionz.co.nz/parliament>).

